VISITING SURGEONS AT 229 CLINICS IN DAY

New Methods of Correcting Human Ills Shown in 600 Operations.

ADDRESSES IN EVENING

Dr. Mary D. Rushmore of Plainfield, N. J., Shows What Women Can Do.

After a day, in which 229 clinics, including 600 operations and 400 demonstrations, occupied the attention of the 2,500 registered members of the Clinical SCHOOL BOOKS MISLEAD now in session in this city, the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria was crowded last night to hear surgeons of international fame speak.

Among these and the first to speak was Dr. Richard R. Smith of Grand Rapids, Mich., whose study of the human form, with an idea to establishing the modern ideal, lends authority to his statement that the Venus de Milo stand to-day as the type of perfect womanly form compared to which the average woman of to-day is inferior.

Dr. Smith's subject was "A Description of the Enteroptotic Woman." This deals with the prolapse of the abdomnal organs, among which are included stomach, liver, spleen, intestines and kidneys. In regard to this prolapse, or sagging, of the organs, he said to the reporters that whereas corsats are not a direct cause of the condition, they may, particularly if the corsets are "bad" or restricted at the waist, aggravate the disease to a great

He added, however, that corsets have nowhere near the injurious effect as that with which popular belief has accredited them.

He said again that man would the enjoyment of religious freedom undoubtedly live longer if he had no large bowel, but on the other hand he opined that the majority of cases of auto-intoxication resulted from poison absolved from the small intestine.

The committee authorized the investigation asked for by Mr. Reiland's committee.

Another resolution aimed at restricting originator of an operation for prolapse of the abdominal organs whereby he makes a hammock of living membran and swings the organs into their normal position, was the next speaker.

by a woman surgeon was yesterday at the New York Infirmary for Women by Dr. Mary D. Rushmore of Plainfield. N. J. She was the only woman thus far asked to hold a clinic. She performed two abdominal operations on women patients in which she was assisted by Dr. Wilhelmina Ragland. Among the women doctors present were Alice Purnell of Philadelphia, Drs. Mac-Farland and Clarke of Philadelphia, and Dr. Mary McLean of St. Louis.

A notable phase of a notable clinic developed at Rockefeller Institue, where Dr. Carrel was demonstrating tuture of blood vessels yesterday. It is possible blood vessels yesterday. It is possible to-day accepted an invitation to attend for but six physicians to attend at one time one of Dr. Carrel's clinics, and he men, on Saturday, December 7. holds on an average of but six clinics

In order that the whole number of surgeons attending the congress may be able to get the advantage of his working methods, a moving picture machine, the property of the institute, recorded every detail of his clinic and if the films are successful they will be shown to the congress to-night in the Academy of Music at Brooklyn.
Dr. Carrel demonstrated the transpiantation of blood vessels from one animal to another, the transplanted vessels to take up the regular functions of those removed.

Notable clinics of the day follow: Dr. F. H. Albee of Bellevue transplanted a foot bone which had been preserved in cold storage to the head of a hip bone of a living patient. Dr. Charles N. Dowd of the Roosevelt Hospital removed a goltre from a child 4 years old. Ordinarily golture does not develop at least until maturity.

At the New York Hospital Dr. William A. Downes clipped an intestine from the stomach, where it was closed by an old ulcer, made an artificial opening in the stomach and attached the Intestine. It is expected to resume its normal functions.

Drs. Willy Meyer and De Witt Stetten at the German Hopifal in two instances removed a section of diseased stomachs and closed the cuts with a Hueltl's surgical stitching instrument for the suture of stomach and intestines. The stitcher is worked automatically. Dr. Parker Syms demonstrated the removal of a kidney at the New York Hospital. Dr. Charles M. Dowd removed six inches of intestine affected by cancer from a patient in Memorial Hospital. Dr. A. L. Soresi demonstrated at Fordham College his method for joining together the ends of intestines. At the New York Children's Hospital on Randall's Island Drs. William Seaman Bainbridge and Claude A. Frink showed two remarkable cases. One was an instance where the thyroid gland had been replaced by the thyroid gland from a calf, and another an instance where a human thyroid gland had been transplanted.

Episcopal Diocesan Meeting Votes to Investigate Charges of Misstatements.

A livelier or larger annual meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Church was never held in the diocese of New York that the one which assembled yesterday in Synod Hall of the cathedral

One of the things to stir up the delegates was a resolution on the subject of textbooks in the public schools presented by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning of Trinity. The Rev. Karl Reiland of St. George's was named chairman of a special committee to consider the resolution.

The new St. George's rector reported that the committee was not sure that the alleged misstatements appeared in the textbooks and urged that an investigation be authorized.

Resolved that a committee of three be named to act alone or in concert with similar committees of other dioceses to make friendly representations to educational Guy's Hospital, London, spoke upon authorities in the State and to authors, chronic intestinal stasis, and said that publishers and teachers of history in the to guard our schools against denomina

Another resolution aimed at restricting the number of persons of foreign birth who ought to be allowed to come into America in one year. It was referred to a committee. A third resolution, presented by the Social Service Commission, condemned the saloons and asked enforcement of laws regulating them.

Last night at the Hotel Manhattan 1,000 persons attended a reception given by Bishops Greer and Burch. Those present included wives of the delegates in many instances. Present at the concentration and reception as visitors were Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts and Canon Hensley Henson of Westminster,
